Foreword

Like Shadows which reflect life itself, may the silhouettes in this book reflect for the reader the spirit of that most picturesque era of American History

The Colonial Period

Dedication

Because we love them for their charm and piquancy, and admire them for their strength of character, we dedicate the 1930 Oak Leaves

To Our

Great Grandmothers
Of the Colonial Period.

The Stage Coach Journey

ALL of my life I had looked forward to the time when I would be old enough to take the stage coach trip from High Schole to Commencementtown. This was a special trip for young ladies and gentlemen desiring to acquire for themselves a more cosmopolitan view of life. However, the trip that I wanted to take was only for young ladies whose ages varied from sixteen to twenty-two years. The coach line was old and well established and all of the papers were full of pictures and praiseworthy accounts of some new coaches that had been put into use. These coaches were quite up-to-date and modern, and they pleased the occupant exceedingly. I could hardly wait until the time when I could see for myself what the stage coaches really were like.

My mother told me that I must know something of traveling before I started on such a long journey alone. Thereupon I was given a series of lessons on how to conduct myself upon various occasions that would arise in the course of my trip. At length, after much gruelling, I was seemingly prepared. Having packed my bag and told everybody good-bye, I went down to the usual stopping place of the coach. When I climbed in I found that there were lots of girls with whom I should like to make friends and soon we were chatting merrily about every thought that had ever entered our heads. It is too long to give a detailed account of that interesting stage coach as it rattled along its way, but I will give some excerpts from my journal that I kept on my trip.

September, 1926

Everything has been most interesting on this trip because I have met so many lovely people and have seen so many strange and delightful things. Today we decided for Eleanor Covington to sit on the driver's seat, where she can point out all of the interesting things and tell us if we are coming to any bumps. We do not even mind the bumps, however, because they are a part of the trip. Something exciting happened this morning. A band of lusty rogues known as Sophomores halted us and made us line up and do homage to them. Even though my heart nearly stopped beating with fear, I was fascinated by these people.

October, 1926

Tonight, while we were halting after a strenuous day's journey, we decided to present some stunts for the general amusement of everybody. I was interested in one that we called "All in a Lifetime." It seems to be quite the thing to present these playlets. We shall do so at the next favorable time.

September, 1927

Today we decided that Salinda Perry should climb up on the driver's seat to direct us on the next part of our journey.

October, 1927

Tonight we presented another series of stunts. Ours was called "Pirate Love" and would you believe it—we got second place!

November, 1927

While we had stopped for the night, a crowd of us who had been in the party for about the same length of time decided to take a "Soph Night Off," as it is popularly called. When we returned to our night's abode, we found that some of the more recent members of our party had tried to play a trick on us and had ransacked our belongings. We gave them a piece of our minds, but they were so penitent that we soon forgave them.

May, 1928

While we halted to let off some fellow passenger, we saw nearby a field of daisies. We immediately decided to make a daisy chain and march around our friends who were leaving, singing to them a farewell song. After our short ceremony, we decked the coach with our daisy chain and climbed in to resume our journey.

September, 1928

We selected Margaret Craig to sit on the driver's high seat for the third lap of our journey. Of course, we had numerous short stops, but there really were only four main parts of our trip.

October, 1928

Stopping for the night we again gave a series of stunts. Ours was entitled "Hello, Mars" and it really won the silver goblet that the winner could keep until it was won by someone else. We were quite overjoyed.

April, 1929

While passing through a lovely wood that resembled Robin Hood's Sherwood of Merry England, we decided that it would be a fitting place to entertain our fellow passengers who were leaving at the next stop. Thereupon we spread a feast and made merry with song and chorus.

September, 1929

For the last lap of our journey we selected Glennie Paul to have the honored seat in front.

October, 1929

We decided to present a series of stunts for the last time and ours was called "Can You Imagine It?" Kind fate was not with us this time and we were forced to relinquish our hold on the silver goblet to our friendly rivals.

March, 1930

Our fellow passengers gave us, whose trip is almost over, a lovely banquet. It was a token that we shall long remember.

June, 1930

At last we reached Commencementtown after a long and interesting trip. So many exciting things have happened and we have learned so much that we hate to think that this delightful journey is all over.

Thus you have some excerpts from my journal. We stayed five days in Commencementtown and then returned to our homes, taking with us some memories and souvenirs of a trip we shall never forget.

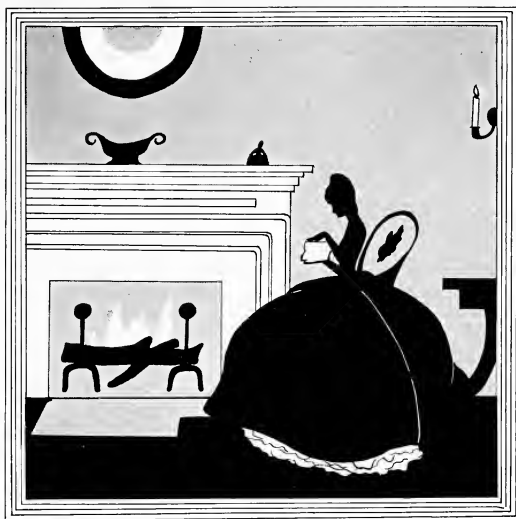

Colonial Ladies

*Colonial ladies,
Sweet and gay,
Charming in their silks and lace,
Entertained right royally
For the gentry of the land.
Gallant men
In buckled shoes,
With wigs and jeweled snuff boxes,
Arrived with dashing coach and four
To pay them court and compliment.*

Junior Jingles

*Of Helen it must be said
That her hair is exceedingly red;
Yet it can be seen
Much knowledge she's gleaned
And stored into her red head.*

*Here is a person named "Bailey,"
Who, on hearing music played gaily,
Went chasing its charm
And fell down—poor arm!
Now she takes more care daily.*

*When asking of Mildred Kichline
How she feels, she answers, "Just fine,
For I run round and round
From school back to town,
But I really enjoy the grind."*

*There is a young lady, Burnette,
Who said, "I most certainly bet
That if I had time
I could write a rhyme
And become well known as a poet."*

*Sometimes it seems that Tempie Ricks
Likes to indulge in queer little tricks,
But after a time
So to end this rhyme,
She gets herself out of the fix.*

*Georgia Cowan likes to eat
Pies and candy, bread and meat.
She may bring renown
To her own home town
By her ability in this feat.*

*Our friend, Alma Dark,
Can sing like a lark,
From morning till night
'Tis her chief delight—
So come, all of you, and hark!*

*Rose Mae is a junior now
(Please, dear, make your best bow),
When a small girl
Her hair did curl,
But she wears it put up just now.*

*"E, min, me, me"—
Felma recited day by day,
"Old English," she said,
And then shook her head,
But added, "I like it, I'll say."*

*"Mary Mc. Iden, where wert thou?
I wanted a stamp just now;
And, please, you'd better
Give me a letter."
(You see, she's postmistress, and how!)*

*Of our Adele
We've much to tell;
She makes a scene
When she sniffs chlorine,
Yet in chemistry she does very well.*

*There is a young lady called Anne
Who goes with a certain young man;
What the result will be
We must wait and see,
But here is to Anne and Julian.*

Junior Jingles

For Elizabeth Mills
 There are Chapels and Hills,
 While at Meredith College
 She gathers her knowledge,
 There "Bunny" concocts little pills.

Lucile Ward likes to quote
 From the plays that Shakespeare wrote.
 Perhaps, some day,
 Just in this way
 She'll become an actress of note.

Flora Allison says this life
 Is so full of worry and strife
 That she'll sit calmly by
 While others learn why
 Is the cause of the fret and the strife.

Nellie Booker, we found, can sing
 As well as a birdie on the wing;
 And we surely know,
 Since Wake Forest says so,
 That Nellie's singing is the thing.

Elizabeth Boomhour says that she knows
 Where her time on Monday night goes.
 She digs and digs
 To write the "Tawigs,"
 As each edition shows.

There is a young lady named Maybelle
 Whom all of us know very well.
 She's a permanent date
 With someone from State.
 His name? Oh, well, we won't tell.

Dolphie Harris says that she
 The Spanish type would like to be,
 And so doth swear
 In her black hair
 Rose:—one, two, three.

Kathleen right now says, "Well,
 Of course you can never tell;
 But if I should fail
 I'd resort to Yale.
 That I should like rather well!"

Of Edith's wise way
 Much could we say.
 "Late hours are well spent
 When to good books they're lent,"
 Says Edith, when she yawns next day.

We all must have seen
 This blonde called Irene.
 She's tall and good-looking,
 Cares little for cooking,
 And looks very pretty in green.

Nancy Britt and sister Ruth,
 To tell you the honest truth,
 Live out in the city,
 More is the pity.
 For we need them out here, forsooth.

Eleanor is a dear little lamb,
 Who surely has nothing of sham;
 She plays her part
 With the merriest heart,
 And gives no one a slam.

Junior Jingles

*There's no one much worse
Than Sarah at verse.
She's a poet—
Does she know it?
She's rhymed till she's 'bout to burst.*

*Mumie Lee Kimball,
In gym is quite nimble;
She studies quite well,
As lessons will tell,
And the grades that she makes are a symbol.*

*Nellie Upchurch has a fondness for sewing;
Her collection of things is growing and growing.
She snips her thread
And nods her head
In appraisal of her sewing.*

*There is a young lady named Starling,
Though sometimes we address her as "darling."
We shall soon hear her name
In musical fame,
This remarkable girl, Ruth Starling.*

*Says Anne, "'Tis really quite queer,
But I must confess it, my dear;
I can't sit up late,
So I retire at eight.
My lessons? Oh, well, don't you fear!"*

*When writing of one called Kitty
We all must admit she is witty;
But she felt heart and head
For someone named Fred,
And no one exclaimed, "What a pity!"*

*There is a young lady said, "Who
H'll tell me what I can do?
The hair on my head
Is certainly red,
But," Ava added, "I'm glad it's not blue."*

*Sportive Elizabeth Ayscue
Exclaimed mournfully, "Now, I ask you
Why playing is fun
When lessons aren't done?"
And no one has yet answered Ayscue.*

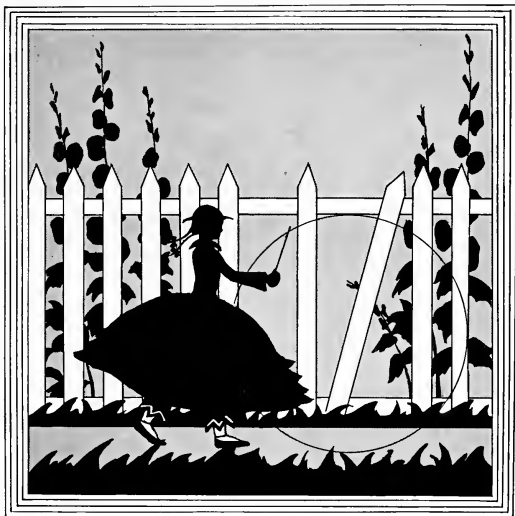

*This demure little Miss Baker
Is surely not a Quaker,
For she never balks
At chances to talk—
At least you don't have to make her.*

*We took a rare fancy
To someone named Nancy,
Who seems very quiet—
Perhaps it's a diet—
At least Lewis is growing quite prancy!*

*We've much to say of Madaline May
("May what?" you say)—
Oh, well,
Don't tell!
But Madaline May.*

*Here's to our friend, Frances Cox,
Who needs several large alarm clocks;
For it seems 'tis her fate
To always be late—
Perhaps she moves slowly to avoid shocks.*

Astro Song

*See thy children, Mother Astro,
 Sisters of the gold and white,
 Bow before thee in thy beauty,
 Thankful for thy wondrous light,
 Now we bring our girlhood treasures,
 And we lay them at thy feet—
 Waiting for thy benediction
 And thy bidding, always sweet.*

*Astro, Mother Astro,
 From the mountains to the sea,
 Astro, Mother Astro,
 We have come in love and gladness
 To be led by thee.*

*Now we feel thy hands upon us,
 Hands so loving and so strong
 That the touch fills every daughter
 With a purpose and a song.
 Lift your heads, ye Astro maidens,
 Look into her starlit eyes,
 Then go forth to life and duty
 With a zeal that never dies.*

*Astro, Mother Astro,
 With a love that grows not old,
 Astro, Mother Astro,
 See us rally round thy banner,
 Dear old white and gold.*

Philaretia

*Behold, in shining raiment dressed
She stands; in silence bow;
High honor sits upon her breast;
A white flame blazes in her breast,
And stars upon her brow.*

*Look up and listen while she speaks,
In solemn tones and slow,
She points to radiant mountain peaks,
Where morn reveals her first grey streaks
To weary souls below.*

*She calls us to her house of light
Beneath her azure dome:
"Come, daughters, walk with me in white,
Above the glooming realms of night;
Build here your highland home.*

*"Let Virtue feed her vestal fire
Within each holy fane,
Let fearless Truth, with flaming ire,
Consume the breath of base desire,
And rule without a stain."*

*Lead on, O Philaretia fair,
Lead upward day by day,
Thy violet banner in the air,
Thy daughters all will highly dare!
Brave, mother, lead the way.*

Your Most Versatile Servant

Electricity has become the most versatile servant of the home, the office, the store, and factory.

In the home it cooks the meals, refrigerates the food, entertains with music over the radio or various types of reproducing machines, sweeps the floors, washes the clothes and curls the hair. In the office, store and factory electricity multiplies the efficiency of man's hands and increases his income.

It is the business of your electric power company to see that these modern servants are constantly on the job—day and night.

She Shops Around The World

A COSMOPOLITAN bird of passage, she knows the smart shops of New York, of Paris and London. Now she knows something about this shop, too. And we know a little more about something (soft pedal) we already knew.

This is what she said to put us in such a fine glow:

"I travel quite a bit and I've been in the best stores both at home and abroad. I just want to tell you how much I've enjoyed my brief hour of shopping in your store.

Everything is so well-selected and fresh-looking and the salespeople are so well-informed and helpful."

When a connoisseur of shopping speaks a word of praise, a little back-patting may be pardoned.

We like to feel that this would still be your preferred store even if you had daily access to all the fine stores in the world.

Certainly, we believe that only a store good enough for the most critical shoppers anywhere is good enough for you.
